

THE HAWAIIAN GAZETTE

RODERICK O. MATTHESON, EDITOR

FRIDAY MORNING
OCTOBER 5, 1916.

THE ADVERTISER'S SEMI-WEEKLY

PERSONALS

(From Wednesday Advertiser.)

L. Wehneheim, manager of Pioneer Sugar Company, is in town on business for his plantation.

Judge Arthur A. Wilder, who has been ill at his home in this city, is reported doing nicely and expects to be out shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cardoso Vieira, of 1415 Kewalo street, welcomed on Sunday the arrival of a daughter, who has been named Agnes.

Herbert L. Kinsler has begun his duties as stenographer in the land office, succeeding Miss Allene Bertelmann, who resigned recently.

Miss Mildred Lee O'Brien, a second cousin of Mark Twain, arrived in the Mauna yesterday morning to gather material for a lecture on the islands. She is at the Moana hotel.

Foster L. Davis, who is now residing in San Francisco, was recently seriously ill from pneumonia poisoning, but is rapidly recovering, according to a cable received here by his parents.

The condition of Dr. William L. Moore was reported that the Queen's Hospital last night as much better and the statement was made that chances for his ultimate recovery are excellent.

Judge William L. Whitney, who has been visiting in the Pacific Coast the past few weeks, will return to Honolulu in the Mauna, which is due here from San Francisco next Tuesday morning.

Frank D. Creedon, manager of the insurance department of the Hawaiian Trust Company, has returned from a pleasant business and pleasure trip to the island of Hawaii, where he visited Hilo, the Volcano of Kilauea and other points of interest.

Senator William T. Robinson, of Walluku, Maui, arrived in the Mauna yesterday from San Francisco. He spent several months visiting in Alaska, Canada, and the mainland of the United States. Senator Robinson is a hold-over and the present political flurry is not interesting him particularly.

Rev. Dr. Doremas Scudder, who will leave November 17 in the Taro Maru for Japan, where he will take charge of the pulpit of the Tokio Union Church, was the guest of honor at a dinner given last night in the Mochizuki Club, Waikiki, by the members of the Japanese Christian Ministerial Union.

(From Thursday Advertiser.)

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Keohou, of Colburn street, Kalihi, died on Tuesday a few hours after birth. The body was cremated yesterday.

Capt. D. L. Stone, who is in charge of the construction work for the department headquarters, has called for bids on the raising of a flag pole at Fort De Ruyter. The pole is to be of iron.

Death claimed on Sunday the two-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Riedel, of 1535 Aylmer road, Kalihi. The funeral was held the same day, interment being in the Maluhia cemetery.

It was reported in Japanese circles yesterday that the Shintome Bank, Honolulu's latest financial concern, had contributed $500 to the fund for the celebration of the birthday of the Mikado.

Lack of money has halted for the time being the laying of water mains in the King street extension, according to a statement made by Harry Murray, manager of the water department, yesterday.

Exceptions to the decision of Judge Anderson in the case of L. Tenney Beck against Mrs. Charlotte D. Stevens, an action in ejectment decided in favor of the defendant, were filed in the supreme court yesterday.

H. B. Newcomb, identified among the real estate men as the "man who sold Royal Grove," is now associated with James W. Pratt. He was formerly with the land department of the Henry Waterhouse Trust Company.

Mrs. Louisa Watson, of Seventeenth avenue, Kaimuki, died on Tuesday morning. Mrs. Watson was a widow, and was a native of this city twenty-five years, eight months and six days old.

Mrs. Mary Keolalahihili Solomon Kamaui died yesterday at her home in Kukuia, near River street. The funeral will be held this afternoon, the interment to be in the Kawaiahauna cemetery. Mrs. Kamaui was a widow, and was a native of this city twenty-five years, eight months and six days old.

Mr. and Mrs. David M. Semple, who were married in Vancouver on September 26, arrived in the Mauna yesterday and will make their home in Honolulu. Mr. Semple being a local man, the story was handed me (as much of the marine stuff is) so I handled every word of it that was given to the outside world from the distributing center here at Portland.

Naturally I have a vivid recollection of the details, and was greatly surprised to find that The Advertiser, in its first story, covered every important detail. Of course the stuff came in here in the form of bulletins, followed by disconnected bunches of stuff, and considerable repetition where the two men at Marshall overlapped, but the A. P. took it from us after I had worked on it.

Your story really was better than ours. Your readers ought to appreciate the good service they are getting. This incident only serves to make me realize it more forcibly.

Said Senator Ollie James to President Wilson, in his notification speech at Shadow Lawn, apropos of "keeping out of war": "This triumph of yours will not be told in history by a great war debt, a mammoth pension roll, vacant chairs at unhappy firesides, and Decoration Day services to place flowers upon the mounds of those who achieved it. . . . Thus we know how vastly superior Woodrow Wilson is to Abraham Lincoln, who was so unwise as to go to war over a mere question of right and wrong, a principle of the Constitution and the rights of the human race. Three cheers for Wilson, James and all others too proud to fight!

Mother Jones is about as upsetting an old lady as has appeared in the United States since the days of the late lamented Carrie Nation. Her advice to women not to stay home and think but to go out and raise hell is disturbing, to say the least.

The Princess Abigail Kawananakoa, sailed from San Francisco yesterday in the Matson liner Maunaloa. She expects to spend several months here, occupying the home of George C. Beckley, in Waikiki. This is the first visit of the princess to Hawaii for three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gould, well-known New Yorkers, who arrived here July 4, left in the Wilhelmina yesterday for San Francisco on the way to their home. During the stay of the Goulds in the Islands they were entertained in a good deal by society and visited all over the group.

The Kawaiahauna, under the guidance of the trustees St. Louis and Albert, left their station here yesterday morning for Lihala, where they will engage in target practice.

Bernhard Knollbush, of the law office of Peay, Prosser, Anderson & Marx, filed yesterday in the supreme court his petition for admission as a law practitioner in all the courts of the Territory.

William A. Newman, a San Francisco architect, has been engaged to draw plans for the building which the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Honolulu, proposes to construct here. The building will be on the church lot at Wilder avenue and Kewalo street.

Joseph Betschke was appointed by the Governor yesterday as chairman and member of the board of election inspectors for the third precinct of the first representative district, at Kure, Oahu, Hawaii, in place of A. G. Curtis, resigned, and who is now away on a visit to the mainland.

The Hawaiian News Company last night asked the board of supervisors for permission to install a news cart similar to that which has been doing business at Fort and King streets. This is the third application of a similar nature, the other two having come from Wall, Nichols & Co., and the A. B. Arleigh Company.

Prof. Vaughan MacCaughey of the College of Hawaii has published in the Journal of Geography and Geology of the University of Wisconsin a concise article on the Hawaiian Islands, particularly dealing with the islands on the western extension of the group. The article is entitled "The Little End of Hawaii."

(From Thursday Advertiser.)

Mrs. K. C. Wood, Miss Brewer and Miss L. Young arrived from Kauai in the Mauna yesterday morning.

Kim Tong Ho, of the Bishop Insurance company, left in the Mauna Kea yesterday for Kawaiahauna, Hawaii.

Attorney D. L. Withington returned in the Mauna on Tuesday from a visit of several weeks in the mainland.

George Collins, city engineer, returned to his office yesterday after a ten-day vacation spent in the country.

Frank Halstead was an arrival in the Mauna yesterday from Vancouver. Mrs. Halstead and their sons accompanied him.

Richard L. Halsey, inspector in charge of the United States immigration station, left in the Mauna Kea yesterday for Hilo.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Beckley left yesterday for the Coast. Mr. Beckley expects to put in some time hunting and fishing in Colorado.

Among the passengers in the Mauna Kea yesterday for the Volcano of Kilauea were Miss C. Bagstad, Mrs. N. L. Johnson and A. B. Snyder.

Charles B. Forbes, superintendent of public works, is to find a place for J. D. Tucker, former land commissioner, in the public works department.

George C. Hall, a former Honolulu newspaper man, has written to friends here, saying that he is now working on the staff of the San Francisco Call.

Jose Gomes Sorraio, a prominent Hilo merchant, is a visitor in the city. He will return to his big island home in the Mauna Kea Saturday afternoon.

St. C. Sayres, manager of the Honolulu Brewing and Malting company, left in the Wilhelmina yesterday, and will spend two months in the mainland.

Among those leaving in the Mauna Kea yesterday for Mahukona, Hawaii, were Judge J. H. K. Kawai, George Wright, Mrs. H. E. Palmer and M. Ahuna.

Mrs. E. O. Matheson, accompanied by her sons, Walter and Roderick, returned in the Mauna yesterday from a visit of several months in Canada and the mainland of the United States.

Among passengers arriving from Hilo in Tuesday's Mauna Kea, was Peter Anastasopoulos of the Volcano House. He will spend the next two weeks visiting with members of the Greek Colony.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert D. L. Perry, who were married here on Tuesday, left in the Mauna Kea yesterday for Hilo and the Volcano of Kilauea where they will spend their honeymoon.

Bishop Albert of the Catholic cathedral is now in Maui, following a month's pastoral visit in the Big Island. He will probably return to Honolulu next Saturday morning in the Mauna Kea.

Gustaf H. Mathies, armament machinist, U. S. A., of Fort Ruger, will leave for the mainland in the transport Logan this week. He has been detailed for duty in the western armament district.

L. Wehneheim, Dr. J. H. Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. J. Walsh, Mrs. M. Hopli, T. C. Hall, Mrs. M. Nichols, K. F. Brown, Miss M. Groves and F. L. Brown were among those leaving in the Mauna Kea yesterday for Lihala, Maui.

Among the arrivals from Kauai in the Mauna yesterday were Alonzo Gartley, E. J. Lord, J. A. Verret, L. Mayers, B. Vickers, Mr. Cosgrove, E. E. Mahlum, J. K. Cockett, J. Hargie, G. Ewart, Simpson Decker and C. Thurston.

It is understood that Dr. Jay M. Kuhns at present resident physician of the Queen's Hospital, Honolulu, will take the place in the Kawaiahauna district made vacant by the departure of Doctor Hoffman for Palak, Hawaii, say Tuesday's Garden Island of Kauai.

The Princess Abigail Kawananakoa, sailed from San Francisco yesterday in the Matson liner Maunaloa. She expects to spend several months here, occupying the home of George C. Beckley, in Waikiki. This is the first visit of the princess to Hawaii for three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gould, well-known New Yorkers, who arrived here July 4, left in the Wilhelmina yesterday for San Francisco on the way to their home. During the stay of the Goulds in the Islands they were entertained in a good deal by society and visited all over the group.

The Kawaiahauna, under the guidance of the trustees St. Louis and Albert, left their station here yesterday morning for Lihala, where they will engage in target practice.

Bernhard Knollbush, of the law office of Peay, Prosser, Anderson & Marx, filed yesterday in the supreme court his petition for admission as a law practitioner in all the courts of the Territory.

William A. Newman, a San Francisco architect, has been engaged to draw plans for the building which the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Honolulu, proposes to construct here. The building will be on the church lot at Wilder avenue and Kewalo street.

Joseph Betschke was appointed by the Governor yesterday as chairman and member of the board of election inspectors for the third precinct of the first representative district, at Kure, Oahu, Hawaii, in place of A. G. Curtis, resigned, and who is now away on a visit to the mainland.

The Hawaiian News Company last night asked the board of supervisors for permission to install a news cart similar to that which has been doing business at Fort and King streets. This is the third application of a similar nature, the other two having come from Wall, Nichols & Co., and the A. B. Arleigh Company.

Prof. Vaughan MacCaughey of the College of Hawaii has published in the Journal of Geography and Geology of the University of Wisconsin a concise article on the Hawaiian Islands, particularly dealing with the islands on the western extension of the group. The article is entitled "The Little End of Hawaii."

(From Thursday Advertiser.)

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Keohou, of Colburn street, Kalihi, died on Tuesday a few hours after birth. The body was cremated yesterday.

Capt. D. L. Stone, who is in charge of the construction work for the department headquarters, has called for bids on the raising of a flag pole at Fort De Ruyter. The pole is to be of iron.

Death claimed on Sunday the two-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Riedel, of 1535 Aylmer road, Kalihi. The funeral was held the same day, interment being in the Maluhia cemetery.

It was reported in Japanese circles yesterday that the Shintome Bank, Honolulu's latest financial concern, had contributed $500 to the fund for the celebration of the birthday of the Mikado.

Lack of money has halted for the time being the laying of water mains in the King street extension, according to a statement made by Harry Murray, manager of the water department, yesterday.

Exceptions to the decision of Judge Anderson in the case of L. Tenney Beck against Mrs. Charlotte D. Stevens, an action in ejectment decided in favor of the defendant, were filed in the supreme court yesterday.

H. B. Newcomb, identified among the real estate men as the "man who sold Royal Grove," is now associated with James W. Pratt. He was formerly with the land department of the Henry Waterhouse Trust Company.

Mrs. Louisa Watson, of Seventeenth avenue, Kaimuki, died on Tuesday morning. Mrs. Watson was a widow, and was a native of this city twenty-five years, eight months and six days old.

Mrs. Mary Keolalahihili Solomon Kamaui died yesterday at her home in Kukuia, near River street. The funeral will be held this afternoon, the interment to be in the Kawaiahauna cemetery. Mrs. Kamaui was a widow, and was a native of this city twenty-five years, eight months and six days old.

Mr. and Mrs. David M. Semple, who were married in Vancouver on September 26, arrived in the Mauna yesterday and will make their home in Honolulu. Mr. Semple being a local man, the story was handed me (as much of the marine stuff is) so I handled every word of it that was given to the outside world from the distributing center here at Portland.

Naturally I have a vivid recollection of the details, and was greatly surprised to find that The Advertiser, in its first story, covered every important detail. Of course the stuff came in here in the form of bulletins, followed by disconnected bunches of stuff, and considerable repetition where the two men at Marshall overlapped, but the A. P. took it from us after I had worked on it.

Your story really was better than ours. Your readers ought to appreciate the good service they are getting. This incident only serves to make me realize it more forcibly.

Said Senator Ollie James to President Wilson, in his notification speech at Shadow Lawn, apropos of "keeping out of war": "This triumph of yours will not be told in history by a great war debt, a mammoth pension roll, vacant chairs at unhappy firesides, and Decoration Day services to place flowers upon the mounds of those who achieved it. . . . Thus we know how vastly superior Woodrow Wilson is to Abraham Lincoln, who was so unwise as to go to war over a mere question of right and wrong, a principle of the Constitution and the rights of the human race. Three cheers for Wilson, James and all others too proud to fight!

Mother Jones is about as upsetting an old lady as has appeared in the United States since the days of the late lamented Carrie Nation. Her advice to women not to stay home and think but to go out and raise hell is disturbing, to say the least.

The Princess Abigail Kawananakoa, sailed from San Francisco yesterday in the Matson liner Maunaloa. She expects to spend several months here, occupying the home of George C. Beckley, in Waikiki. This is the first visit of the princess to Hawaii for three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gould, well-known New Yorkers, who arrived here July 4, left in the Wilhelmina yesterday for San Francisco on the way to their home. During the stay of the Goulds in the Islands they were entertained in a good deal by society and visited all over the group.

The Kawaiahauna, under the guidance of the trustees St. Louis and Albert, left their station here yesterday morning for Lihala, where they will engage in target practice.

Bernhard Knollbush, of the law office of Peay, Prosser, Anderson & Marx, filed yesterday in the supreme court his petition for admission as a law practitioner in all the courts of the Territory.

William A. Newman, a San Francisco architect, has been engaged to draw plans for the building which the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Honolulu, proposes to construct here. The building will be on the church lot at Wilder avenue and Kewalo street.

Joseph Betschke was appointed by the Governor yesterday as chairman and member of the board of election inspectors for the third precinct of the first representative district, at Kure, Oahu, Hawaii, in place of A. G. Curtis, resigned, and who is now away on a visit to the mainland.

The Hawaiian News Company last night asked the board of supervisors for permission to install a news cart similar to that which has been doing business at Fort and King streets. This is the third application of a similar nature, the other two having come from Wall, Nichols & Co., and the A. B. Arleigh Company.

Prof. Vaughan MacCaughey of the College of Hawaii has published in the Journal of Geography and Geology of the University of Wisconsin a concise article on the Hawaiian Islands, particularly dealing with the islands on the western extension of the group. The article is entitled "The Little End of Hawaii."

(From Thursday Advertiser.)

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Keohou, of Colburn street, Kalihi, died on Tuesday a few hours after birth. The body was cremated yesterday.

Capt. D. L. Stone, who is in charge of the construction work for the department headquarters, has called for bids on the raising of a flag pole at Fort De Ruyter. The pole is to be of iron.

Death claimed on Sunday the two-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Riedel, of 1535 Aylmer road, Kalihi. The funeral was held the same day, interment being in the Maluhia cemetery.

It was reported in Japanese circles yesterday that the Shintome Bank, Honolulu's latest financial concern, had contributed $500 to the fund for the celebration of the birthday of the Mikado.

Lack of money has halted for the time being the laying of water mains in the King street extension, according to a statement made by Harry Murray, manager of the water department, yesterday.

Exceptions to the decision of Judge Anderson in the case of L. Tenney Beck against Mrs. Charlotte D. Stevens, an action in ejectment decided in favor of the defendant, were filed in the supreme court yesterday.

H. B. Newcomb, identified among the real estate men as the "man who sold Royal Grove," is now associated with James W. Pratt. He was formerly with the land department of the Henry Waterhouse Trust Company.

Mrs. Louisa Watson, of Seventeenth avenue, Kaimuki, died on Tuesday morning. Mrs. Watson was a widow, and was a native of this city twenty-five years, eight months and six days old.

Mrs. Mary Keolalahihili Solomon Kamaui died yesterday at her home in Kukuia, near River street. The funeral will be held this afternoon, the interment to be in the Kawaiahauna cemetery. Mrs. Kamaui was a widow, and was a native of this city twenty-five years, eight months and six days old.

Mr. and Mrs. David M. Semple, who were married in Vancouver on September 26, arrived in the Mauna yesterday and will make their home in Honolulu. Mr. Semple being a local man, the story was handed me (as much of the marine stuff is) so I handled every word of it that was given to the outside world from the distributing center here at Portland.

Naturally I have a vivid recollection of the details, and was greatly surprised to find that The Advertiser, in its first story, covered every important detail. Of course the stuff came in here in the form of bulletins, followed by disconnected bunches of stuff, and considerable repetition where the two men at Marshall overlapped, but the A. P. took it from us after I had worked on it.

Your story really was better than ours. Your readers ought to appreciate the good service they are getting. This incident only serves to make me realize it more forcibly.

Said Senator Ollie James to President Wilson, in his notification speech at Shadow Lawn, apropos of "keeping out of war": "This triumph of yours will not be told in history by a great war debt, a mammoth pension roll, vacant chairs at unhappy firesides, and Decoration Day services to place flowers upon the mounds of those who achieved it. . . . Thus we know how vastly superior Woodrow Wilson is to Abraham Lincoln, who was so unwise as to go to war over a mere question of right and wrong, a principle of the Constitution and the rights of the human race. Three cheers for Wilson, James and all others too proud to fight!

Mother Jones is about as upsetting an old lady as has appeared in the United States since the days of the late lamented Carrie Nation. Her advice to women not to stay home and think but to go out and raise hell is disturbing, to say the least.

The Princess Abigail Kawananakoa, sailed from San Francisco yesterday in the Matson liner Maunaloa. She expects to spend several months here, occupying the home of George C. Beckley, in Waikiki. This is the first visit of the princess to Hawaii for three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gould, well-known New Yorkers, who arrived here July 4, left in the Wilhelmina yesterday for San Francisco on the way to their home. During the stay of the Goulds in the Islands they were entertained in a good deal by society and visited all over the group.

The Kawaiahauna, under the guidance of the trustees St. Louis and Albert, left their station here yesterday morning for Lihala, where they will engage in target practice.

Bernhard Knollbush, of the law office of Peay, Prosser, Anderson & Marx, filed yesterday in the supreme court his petition for admission as a law practitioner in all the courts of the Territory.

William A. Newman, a San Francisco architect, has been engaged to draw plans for the building which the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Honolulu, proposes to construct here. The building will be on the church lot at Wilder avenue and Kewalo street.

Joseph Betschke was appointed by the Governor yesterday as chairman and member of the board of election inspectors for the third precinct of the first representative district, at Kure, Oahu, Hawaii, in place of A. G. Curtis, resigned, and who is now away on a visit to the mainland.

The Hawaiian News Company last night asked the board of supervisors for permission to install a news cart similar to that which has been doing business at Fort and King streets. This is the third application of a similar nature, the other two having come from Wall, Nichols & Co., and the A. B. Arleigh Company.

Prof. Vaughan MacCaughey of the College of Hawaii has published in the Journal of Geography and Geology of the University of Wisconsin a concise article on the Hawaiian Islands, particularly dealing with the islands on the western extension of the group. The article is entitled "The Little End of Hawaii."

(From Thursday Advertiser.)

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Keohou, of Colburn street, Kalihi, died on Tuesday a few hours after birth. The body was cremated yesterday.

Capt. D. L. Stone, who is in charge of the construction work for the department headquarters, has called for bids on the raising of a flag pole at Fort De Ruyter. The pole is to be of iron.

Death claimed on Sunday the two-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Riedel, of 1535 Aylmer road, Kalihi. The funeral was held the same day, interment being in the Maluhia cemetery.

It was reported in Japanese circles yesterday that the Shintome Bank, Honolulu's latest financial concern, had contributed $500 to the fund for the celebration of the birthday of the Mikado.

Lack of money has halted for the time being the laying of water mains in the King street extension, according to a statement made by Harry Murray, manager of the water department, yesterday.

Exceptions to the decision of Judge Anderson in the case of L. Tenney Beck against Mrs. Charlotte D. Stevens, an action in ejectment decided in favor of the defendant, were filed in the supreme court yesterday.

H. B. Newcomb, identified among the real estate men as the "man who sold Royal Grove," is now associated with James W. Pratt. He was formerly with the land department of the Henry Waterhouse Trust Company.

Mrs. Louisa Watson, of Seventeenth avenue, Kaimuki, died on Tuesday morning. Mrs. Watson was a widow, and was a native of this city twenty-five years, eight months and six days old.

Mrs. Mary Keolalahihili Solomon Kamaui died yesterday at her home in Kukuia, near River street. The funeral will be held this afternoon, the interment to be in the Kawaiahauna cemetery. Mrs. Kamaui was a widow, and was a native of this city twenty-five years, eight months and six days old.

Mr. and Mrs. David M. Semple, who were married in Vancouver on September 26, arrived in the Mauna yesterday and will make their home in Honolulu. Mr. Semple being a local man, the story was handed me (as much of the marine stuff is) so I handled every word of it that was given to the outside world from the distributing center here at Portland.

Naturally I have a vivid recollection of the details, and was greatly surprised to find that The Advertiser, in its first story, covered every important detail. Of course the stuff came in here in the form of bulletins, followed by disconnected bunches of stuff, and considerable repetition where the two men at Marshall overlapped, but the A. P. took it from us after I had worked on it.

Your story really was better than ours. Your readers ought to appreciate the good service they are getting. This incident only serves to make me realize it more forcibly.

Said Senator Ollie James to President Wilson, in his notification speech at Shadow Lawn, apropos of "keeping out of war": "This triumph of yours will not be told in history by a great war debt, a mammoth pension roll, vacant chairs at unhappy firesides, and Decoration Day services to place flowers upon the mounds of those who achieved it. . . . Thus we know how vastly superior Woodrow Wilson is to Abraham Lincoln, who was so unwise as to go to war over a mere question of right and wrong, a principle of the Constitution and the rights of the human race. Three cheers for Wilson, James and all others too proud to fight!

Mother Jones is about as upsetting an old lady as has appeared in the United States since the days of the late lamented Carrie Nation. Her advice to women not to stay home and think but to go out and raise hell is disturbing, to say the least.

The Princess Abigail Kawananakoa, sailed from San Francisco yesterday in the Matson liner Maunaloa. She expects to spend several months here, occupying the home of George C. Beckley, in Waikiki. This is the first visit of the princess to Hawaii for three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Gould, well-known New Yorkers, who arrived here July 4, left in the Wilhelmina yesterday for San Francisco on the way to their home. During the stay of the Goulds in the Islands they were entertained in a good deal by society and visited all over the group.

The Kawaiahauna, under the guidance of the trustees St. Louis and Albert, left their station here yesterday morning for Lihala, where they will engage in target practice.

Bernhard Knollbush, of the law office of Peay, Prosser, Anderson & Marx, filed yesterday in the supreme court his petition for admission as a law practitioner in all the courts of the Territory.

William A. Newman, a San Francisco architect, has been engaged to draw plans for the building which the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Honolulu, proposes to construct here. The building will be on the church lot at Wilder avenue and Kewalo street.

Joseph Betschke was appointed by the Governor yesterday as chairman and member of the board of election inspectors for the third precinct of the first representative district, at Kure, Oahu, Hawaii, in place of A. G. Curtis, resigned, and who is now away on a visit to the mainland.

The Hawaiian News Company last night asked the board of supervisors for permission to install a news cart similar to that which has been doing business at Fort and King streets. This is the third application of a similar nature, the other two having come from Wall, Nichols & Co., and the A. B. Arleigh Company.

Prof. Vaughan MacCaughey of the College of Hawaii has published in the Journal of Geography and Geology of the University of Wisconsin a concise article on the Hawaiian Islands, particularly dealing with the islands on the western extension of the group. The article is entitled "The Little End of Hawaii."

(From Thursday Advertiser.)

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Keohou, of Colburn street, Kalihi, died on Tuesday a few hours after birth. The body was cremated yesterday.

Capt. D. L. Stone, who is in charge of the construction work for the department headquarters, has called for bids on the raising of a flag pole at Fort De Ruyter. The pole is to be of iron.

Death claimed on Sunday the two-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Riedel, of 1535 Aylmer road, Kalihi. The funeral was held the same day, interment being in the Maluhia cemetery.

It was reported in Japanese circles yesterday that the Shintome Bank, Honolulu's latest financial concern, had contributed $500 to the fund for the celebration of the birthday of the Mikado.

Lack of money has halted for the time being the laying of water mains in the King street extension, according to a statement made by Harry Murray, manager of the water department, yesterday.

Exceptions to the decision of Judge Anderson in the case of L. Tenney Beck against Mrs. Charlotte D. Stevens, an action in ejectment decided in favor of the defendant, were filed in the supreme court yesterday.

H. B. Newcomb, identified among the real estate men as the "man who sold Royal Grove," is now associated with James W. Pratt. He was formerly with the land department of the Henry Waterhouse Trust Company.

Mrs. Louisa Watson, of Seventeenth avenue, Kaimuki, died on Tuesday morning. Mrs. Watson was a widow, and was a native of this city twenty-five years, eight months and six days old.

Mrs. Mary Keolalahihili Solomon Kamaui died yesterday at her home in Kukuia, near River street. The funeral will be held this afternoon, the interment to be in the Kawaiahauna cemetery. Mrs. Kamaui was a widow, and was a native of this city twenty-five years, eight months and six days old.

Mr. and Mrs. David M. Semple, who were married in Vancouver on September 26, arrived in the Mauna yesterday and will make their home in Honolulu. Mr. Semple being a local man, the story was handed me (as much of the marine stuff is) so I handled every word of it that was given to the outside world from the distributing center here at Portland.

Naturally I have a vivid recollection of the details, and was greatly surprised to find that The Advertiser, in its first story, covered every important detail. Of course the stuff came in here in the form of bulletins, followed by disconnected bunches of stuff, and considerable repetition where the two men at Marshall overlapped, but the A. P. took it from us after I had worked on it.

Your story really was better than ours. Your readers ought to appreciate the good service they are getting. This incident only serves to make me realize it more forcibly.

Said Senator Ollie James to President Wilson, in his notification speech at Shadow Lawn, apropos of "keeping out of war": "This triumph of yours will not be told in history by a great war debt, a mammoth pension roll, vacant chairs at unhappy firesides, and Decoration Day services to place flowers upon the mounds of those who achieved it. . . . Thus we know how vastly superior Woodrow Wilson is to Abraham Lincoln, who was so unwise as to go to war over a mere question of right and wrong, a principle of the Constitution and the rights of the human race. Three cheers for Wilson, James and all others too proud to fight!

Mother Jones is about as upsetting an old lady as has